

Beauty is in the Eye of the Beholder

The animals below are considered by some to be beautiful BUT others find them not so cute! Your mission is to search for the animals and decide for yourself.

Seahorse

Believe it or not, seahorses are poor swimmers. They use their tails to hang on to seagrasses, so they don't get swept away in the current.

Uromastyx

These desert lizards use their spiny tails to scare away predators.

Lionfish

This fish uses its venomous spines to avoid being eaten. This is one of the reasons they are such an invasive species.

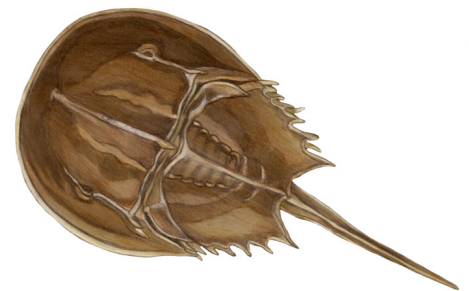

Oyster Toadfish

They may be ugly, but oyster toadfish are well adapted to blend in with the rocks and logs of the Chesapeake Bay.

Jellies

Brainless, spineless, heartless... Jellies may be simple animals, but they avoid predators with their painful sting.

Horseshoe Crab

These animals have survived on earth for an estimated 450 million years and have few natural predators as adults.
